

The Bomber Fleet

USAF cannot generate enough long-range strike sorties for a single major conflict with a peer adversary. B-21 stealth bombers, now in development, will constitute the bulk of modernization for the foreseeable future.

